

Philosophy & Religion

Web: philosophy.unt.edu call: 940.565.2266 visit: EESAT 225 Dept. chair: Dr. David Kaplan

Department Highlights

- Acclaimed as a leading program in environmental ethics and philosophy
- Created the world's first station in environmental philosophy, science and policy at Cape Horn, Chile
- Home to the Center of Environmental Philosophy, dedicated to furthering research, publication and education about environmental philosophy and ethics

Get Involved

- Undergraduate Philosopher's Forum
- Learn more about our research interests: Environmental Justice Project, Philosophy of Food Project and Philosophy of Water Project

Meet Your Philosophy & Religion Advisor

Dr. Matthew Lampert
Office: Environmental Education,
Science and Technology (EESAT) 225D
matthew.lampert@unt.edu