

BA in Latino Latin American Studies ACADEMIC MAP

A bachelor's degree with a major in political science will prepare you for many careers in government service, politics, law, and private industry within the United States and abroad. You may become a lobbyist in Washington, D.C., or in a state capital; work in a citizen's advocacy group; manage a non-profit association; or enter the Foreign Service or the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The following four-year plan is one example of a variety of ways in which you can complete your chosen degree in four years, and will serve as a guide for you to design your pathway to degree completion. Variations will depend on whether you need to take prerequisites or have college credit from exams or dual enrollment.

The College of Liberal Arts & Social Sciences expects you to have completed the State recommended high school program and be ready to enroll for Language 2040 or a mathematics course above college algebra. If you are not prepared for this level, the necessary prerequisites will either replace electives or increase the hours required for the degree.
