

WHAT'S YOUR MAJOR?

NAME: Brooklyn

MAJOR: Political Science and Criminal Justice

CLASSIFICATION: Junior

TELL THE STORY OF HOW YOU FOUND THIS MAJOR:

I have always had a passion for the law and upholding it to endure the posterity and prosperity of society and all its members. I chose these majors as they are the most relevant to my future studies as I plan to go to law school after graduation from the University of North Texas.

WHAT TIPS DO YOU HAVE FOR FIRST-YEAR STUDENTS:

All first-year students should keep an updated planner with them at all times, this was my lifesaver my first year, even now I cannot see myself in the future remaining organized without one. Another tip I would offer first-year students is to make friends in your classes that you can connect with to help each other study for tests and go over homework with. Finding friends or other people that care about you enough to ask you about your studies and if you are keeping up with them. Most importantly, taking care of yourself and knowing when to say no to things that can be harmful to you, your mental health, or grades, including knowing your limits and when to sit out the invite to the party when you have a test the next morning.
