

WHAT'S YOUR MAJOR?

NAME: Angelina

MAJOR: Psychology

CLASSIFICATION: Freshman

TELL THE STORY OF HOW YOU FOUND THIS MAJOR:

I have always been that kid who asked "why" and "how" things happen. This natural curiosity led me to take Anatomy and Physiology in my sophomore year of high school. In that class, I learned and became weirdly obsessed with brain function and structure. This obsession then catalyzed my enrollment in a psychology class the next year. I had and still have this weird fascination with how our brains work and I knew I wanted to pursue a major in general psychology. Clinical psychology is more of my niche and I hope to enter a clinical setting after graduation. I have recently been drawn into the PA track in which I would like to pursue a specialty in psychiatric/mental health.

WHAT TIPS DO YOU HAVE FOR FIRST-YEAR STUDENTS:

- Communicate and collaborate with your academic advisors! They are here to help you out and by establishing that connection with them, you are setting yourself up for success!
- Network with other students in your major. Start building those professional relationships early.
