

Emerging Journalists Workshop

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

Welcome to Dow Jones News Fund, the Scripps Howard Foundation and the University of North Texas Mayborn School of Journalism's Emerging Journalists Workshop. It is designed to prepare the next generations of journalists and help to ensure that newsrooms better represent the broader population.

The Mayborn School's career bootcamp will create a strong mentor network between students and working journalists. There will be opportunities for students to have their work published.

Learn more about the program: <https://journalism.unt.edu/experiences/scripps-howard.html>

WHO CAN APPLY?

Any Texas high school student who will be a junior, senior or recent graduate in Spring Semester of 2026.

HOW DO YOU APPLY?

- Fill out the application form for the program, which includes an essay and work samp
- Submit a teacher/mentor teacher recommendation
- Submit a high school transcript
- Submit the parent permission form found on the Emerging Journalists website

2026 DATES AND DEADLINES FOR STUDENTS

March 27, 2026: Deadline for student application

April 2026: Committee to review applicants and choose finalists and alternates

May 1, 2026: Emerging Journalists announced

June 14-18, 2026: High school workshop

Emerging Journalists Workshop

SUMMER WORKSHOP

Emerging Journalists will participate in a free, week-long workshop June 14 -18, 2026 that sets the foundation for a summer internship placement. Journalists will be required to participate in a mix of live reporting sessions and activities.

The workshop curriculum will focus on fundamental newsgathering, ethical reporting, writing across platforms, journalism industry standards and style, plus multimedia storytelling.

SCAN HERE TO APPLY!

DIRECT LINK:

HTTPS://JOURNALISM.UNT.EDU/EXPERIENCES/SCRIPPS-HOWARD.HTML

